

Using Technology to Attract and Retain Staff

Silvano Basso Managing Director Aurion Corporation Pty Ltd

Providers of Aged Care services face particular challenges to attract and retain. People are often attracted to Not for Profit (NFP) organisations because of what they do. Aged Care competes with other community services providers for these people especially consultants. The challenge for Aged Care is to ensure that their experience of working for the organisation encourages them to stay. This session explores how HR technology can assist with attracting and retaining staff, volunteers and other people who work in Aged Care.